The songs renowned, e.g., from being performed by Ewa Demarczyk are more than just a recollection of Kraków-branded lyrical works, but also homage paid to Kraków artists. ## Lecture by Gaston Dorren

6:00 pm, 7 March 2023

Pałac Potockich, Rynek Główny 20

As Exotic as we are: on Languages and Linguistic Cultures. Lecture by Gaston Dorren.

We know that foreign languages are different. But most are “differently different” than our school knowledge would lead us to expect. Moreover, the speakers of all these highly diverse tongues have very different outlooks on linguistic questions. There’s no deciding who’s wrong or right; Us and Them are equally exotic. All that is a question of perspective. And perspective is what we will learn during this exceptional lecture by Gaston Dorren held thanks to the cooperation of Karakter Publishing House and KBF, co-host of the Potocki Mansion and co-organiser of the Conrad Festival.

Alicja Majewska: Piosenki Korcza i Andrusa

ICE Kraków Congress Centre, ul. Marii Konopnickiej 17

Alicja Majewska, an icon of Polish song, returns to the stage with a collection of brand-new recordings three years after releasing Życ się chce. All the lyrics were written by Włodzimierz Korcz and Artur Andrus. The songs make up an album offering a reflective, at times nostalgic, trip down the memory lane, but also a cheerful look, spiced with a little bit of madness, at life from the perspective of “connoisseurs of yet another day”, as all the three artists call themselves.

The CD with the premiere recordings of Alicja Majewska is always a big event and an opportunity to listen to the dame of Polish song live in this repertoire is an exceptional occasion!
